It's dead, Jim!. this isnt falcon 4.0 as described when i broughht
. Fun game. Except the crazy mode wasn't crazy enough.. Let's not and say we did :D. Nice VR game

I loved the chaotic yet directed gameplay. You never know what you will come across or what a new creature in the world will do. I am currently addicted otherwise I would write a more in-depth review. It is an addicting game for a great price. Edit: Now that I have played an unhealthy number of rounds on this one, this game feels like it is still in development. The English is choppy, there is a lack of an option for instructions on how to use the controls effectively, and the world can be pretty imbalanced due to the nature of the game and item spawns; it can be seen as a challenging aspect of the game or simply an imbalance, depending. I still recommend this game for the price, but it needs a little more love from developers. For instance, my family in the game has randomly begun attempting to kill me, so I must constantly run away from them to survive considering I have made them as strong as I am. That just.. doesn't seem right? How am I supposed to play when I can't even trust my family not to murder me? My followers will also try to kill each other if I have the wrong mix. This is never established as a mechanic in the game, the idea of certain species always going aggro on another, so I am hoping this is a bug, rather than an additional 'challenge' of the game. I still recommend because it is inexpensive for a fun game, but it definitely has its downsides.. i dontt know if theres such a thing as a perfect video game but if there is this is it. Their Early access "What developers have to say" claims it only wants to be early access for 3 months with an update every week. Their last update was months ago and it's been in early access for what feels like forever. It's a good game, but what's the deal?. Scale for benefit of upgrade vs. price of upgrade is insane. Where other clickers has upgrades that go like 0,1, 1, 10, 20, 50, 100... clicks per second on different levels of upgrades, this one has 0,1, 0,5, 0,8, 1... and prices for for upgrades are insane considering how slow you get clicks. Manual clicking also can be improved... in increments of one and those get insanely expensive fast, so even clicking macros won't help you here.

Terrible terrible clicker with some money-grapping microtransactions. It's like developer has heard of clickers but doesn't know math and has no understanding why people play clickers.. Such a classic game! :D. cool and really funny! i really like the cookies in the charater seleton and the things you can drive and fly is really cool! i highly recommend steam users play this!. A single table, half aresd re-skin of space cadet pinball. Not worth $8 and not worth the bandwidth it took to download.. Actually mindblowing. Felt like a child from antichamber and portal in a sense. Really fun and gets more and more puzzling. Only thing i was dissapointed about was that there isnt more to the game. It seems like a ton of fun and was dissapointed when i was almost at the end. Still really fun 4 hours; probably gonna go play it again to get the other ending.. 300 Dwarves is a pretty basic tower defence game. With only twelve levels to play and five towers to choose from. Plus a 700% price hike from the original iOS build justified by exactly nothing at all.
