Steam Workshop Contest and Giveaway Prize Announcements!:

Hey RMers!

Sorry about the delay, we had a lot of awesome workshop entries to go through, and then we had to take a bit of time to lock down the final prizes themselves. But the time is upon us, the time to learn who won all the prizes and what they won! (to claim your prize, contact me at community@rpgmakerweb.com)

First off, we had the RPG Maker for the Not-So-Bright Screenshot Contest, where screenshots were entered by contestants of dumb things they have done that other people should avoid! And the winner IIIIIS...

Human-like AI *Sin for teaching us to always remember to save, and to be careful where you point that cut and paste. You have won one RPG Maker DLC on Steam of your choice.

Next, we had our two Giveaways. One for the DLC 2: Return of DLC topic, and the other for having uploaded something to our Workshop in the first week. Our two winners here are:

cjfrick13 for uploading Cadolfia to the Workshop, AND alusair1 for his contribution in the DLC 2 thread. They have also both won a single RPG Maker DLC on Steam.

And last, but DEFINITELY not least... Who could have won the best of the first week of uploads on our workshop? Our workshop exploded with games and resources and demos. But one was specifically well liked, and really useful. And that was...

StealthMomo's Day and Night Cycle Resource Pack, compiling several resources (with excellent crediting) to show everyone a simple way to create a dynamic day and night system. StealthMomo has won a 100 dollar Steam Wallet code! Congratulations StealthMomo!

Thank you to everyone for making our Steam Workshop launch a success, and I look forward to handing out more free goodies to our fans. Keep up the good work everyone, and be on the look out for more chances to win!. Always Sometimes Monsters Asset Pack and Mac/Linux Build!:
